

/R/

(working title)

/R/ is a conlang by Aether.
This conlang has a quite simple phonology. As the name implies the language only contains rhotic consonants

| | | |
|-------------|----------|--------|
| | Alveolar | Uvular |
| Trill | p [r] | ř [ʀ] |
| Tap | ρ [ɾ] | |
| Fricative | | ṛ̌ [ʁ] |
| Approximant | ǰ [ɹ] | |

Vowels

The vowels in /r/ are the following:

| | | |
|-----------|---------|-------|
| | unround | round |
| close | i | y |
| close-mid | | o |
| open | a | |
| | | |

Grammar

The grammar in /r/ is very minimal, the main rules are the following:
There are no capital letters in /r/, except for names. Obviously making your name fit for /r/'s phonology will be difficult, given the limited scope of it.
But you can just make any adaptation of your name you'd like.

For the grammar system, you first put the subject, then the expletive, then the adjective, then the object, and in the last position goes the time marker..

Vocabulary

Nouns

pařy /ɫaɤy/. Reflection

řai /ɤai/. Person

řo /ɤo/. Music

pa /ɫa/. Computer

Time markers:

As stated in Grammar, in this language there are time markers, which signify what time a sentence is.

The time markers in /r/ are:

piři: Present. pyřy: Past. pařa: Future.: Future.

Verbs:

some¹ verbs in /r/ are Pronouns

/R/ only has 2 third person pronouns, singular and plural

The singular pronoun is řa /ɤy/

The plural pronoun is ři /ɤo/

The second person pronouns in /r/ are pipa /rira/ for singular.

pipo /riro/ for plural.

For possessive you use the word pa /ra/. so the phrase "their² computer" in /r/ is "řa pa pa"

¹a full list of the vocabulary will be at <https://wooper.org/conlang/vocabulary.txt>

²"their" in this context is singular